

Women's Forest Congress UPDATE

February 2025

Register Now for WFC's March 2025 Lunch & Learn

Join the Women's Forest Congress for our March 2025 Lunch & Learn, Thursday, March 20, 1:00-2:00 pm Eastern Time (12:00-1:00pm Central/11:00am-12:00 pm Mountain/10:00-11:00 am Pacific), for an interview with Dr. Julia Pham about the 7 Forms of Respect framework, which will help you transform your communication and relationships with the people you work with in lasting and surprising ways.

Think about the time and energy wasted when we misinterpret one another's actions. Imagine what we could accomplish together if we invested in trying to understand each other better. The 7 Forms of Respect: A Guide to Transforming Your Communication and Relationships at Work, by Dr. Pham, can help you articulate how you want to receive respect and determine how others want to be shown respect. It can help your team and your organization as a whole determine how you collectively express respect.

And mark your calendars for the remaining 2025 WFC virtual gatherings.

- June 10, 1-2pm ET – Building Trust and Relationships
- September 9, 1-2pm ET – Self Advocacy: Articulating Values and Value Proposition
- December 9, 1-2pm ET – Topic to be confirmed

Thank You to Our Supporters

Please help us thank these organizations and individuals for being an integral part of the Women's Forest Congress. Their support will ensure the Declaration and related Resolutions made at the inaugural 2022 Women's Forest Congress are successfully implemented. Thank you for helping us continue to grow and support the extraordinary community forming around the movement.

What's Happening in the WFC Community?

- Are you a woman, based in Minnesota, USA? The MN Women's Woodland Network is developing an informal networking/mentorship program, the MNWWN Connections Program, intended to create a network of women working in natural resources in MN in all stages of their careers and backgrounds. The program goals are to: 1) facilitate connections between women working in natural resources in MN to support professional growth and development, 2) create a network of women across MN natural resource organizations to promote new collaborations and partnerships, and 3) provide opportunities to gather and learn from each other as colleagues and friends. Click here to learn more and participate in an interest survey.
- Mark your calendars for International Women's Day, on Saturday, March 8, with this year's theme being #AccelerateAction. We'll honor women and their contributions to the forest sector. We encourage you to join in our efforts and tagging #WeAreWFC in your social media posts.

Sharing Resources, Job Opportunities and Key Information
